Developed in our secret underground Moab laboratory deep below the La Sal mountains, Entradalopes are a technical marvel: a combination of our award-winning 100% cotton scored Entrada Rag cards with matching envelopes.

Entradalopes help bring your vision to print and then to others. Use them to promote your business or to share your prints. Use them for invitations, announcements or even (gasp!) hand-written correspondence.

Kits come with 25 or 100 scored cards (5x7 when folded) and 25 or 100 corresponding A7 envelopes with a rounded elongated flap. Available in Bright White and Natural.

Moenkopi Kozo 110

Kozo features the smooth surface of a hot press art paper without losing the sensual nature of traditional Japanese Washi. Machinemade in Tokushima, Japan using the Kozo (mulberry) fiber. Designed for use with archival ink jet printers, Moenkopi papers have been treated for use with most dye and pigment inks for a sharp image structure but maintain the exquisite feel expected from a fine Japanese Washi paper. Basis weight: 110 gsm, 18 mil, single-sided.

Moenkopi [moe-in-koe-pee] is not a Japanese name and Moab is not located in Japan, but these papers represent a unique partnership with the Awagami Factory in Tokushima, Japan. Moenkopi is a Native-American name which was used to identify a mudstone layer of rock common in the Moab area. The world-famous Fisher Towers seen in many a John Wayne film, were formed in this strata. These unique towers seem to flow from the earth. It is fitting then that Moenkopi would be used to define our family of environmentally-friendly Japanese papers made primarily from Kozo (mulberry) fibers.

A highly decorative sheet which is perfect for adding depth to a print. Designed for use with archival ink jet printers, Moenkopi papers have been treated for use with most dye and pigment inks for a sharp image structure but maintain the exquisite feel expected from a fine Japanese Washi paper.
