New Canon Large-format Printers

Canon has introduced new 24" and 44" printers that are significantly better than previous Canon models. What's new:

- ◆ 12-Color LUCIA EX ink set for wider color gamut, better scratch resistance, less graininess, smoother gradation, reduced bronzing, and sharper/deeper blacks
- ◆ New High-Precision Printing Modes
- ◆ Redesigned printer frame for rigid body
- ◆ Enhanced image processing incl 80Gb HD
- ◆ Redesigned control panel
- ◆ Gigabit Ethernet support
- ◆ Enhanced accuracy of dot placement
- ◆ Embedded densitometer for calibration
- ◆ Enhanced software
 - Print Plug-in for Adobe Photoshop
 - Media Configuration Tool
 - Accounting Manager
 - Print Plug-in for Microsoft Office

JVH has a Canon 6350 demo unit arriving early April which we will put through its paces, including comparing it to the industry leading Epson 7900 photo printer. We would be happy to show you both printers first-hand here in Bellevue, run some sample prints, and help you evaluate the right printer for your needs. Just give us a call.

Print Longevity Demystified

Wilhelm Imaging Research is a wonderful resource for educational information on print longevity. Check it out at: www.wilhelm-research.com

Tolerance for the amount of fading, changes in color balance, contrast variations, and yellowing is steadily decreasing as people become accustomed to viewing images on brightly lit LCD displays. Did you know that a print rated at 100 years indoors under glass may very well fade after just 2 years of direct sunlight outdoors?

To provide consumers with comprehensive info about print permanence, it is Wilhelm's policy that data for all five standard stringent permanence tests must be reported. These tests are: 1) Simulation of Indoor Indirect Daylight through window glass, 2) Album/Dark Storage Stability, 3) Unprotected resistance to Ozone, 4) Resistance to High Humidity conditions, and 5) Resistance to water.

New White Ink Epson Printer Released

Epson has released the world's first aqueous-based White Printing technology. The 24" WT7900 printer is designed specifically for proofing Flexography and Gravure print jobs. It incorporates Epson's high-res ink jet technology with the breakthrough Epson HDR White Ink. The WT7900 is capable of printing directly on both ink jet coated clear and metallic films in roll or cut sheet. Please contact JVH for detailed info.
