Expolinc Roll-up Display System

The Roll Up display system is very cool thanks to its clean design, simplicity and speed. You can use one screen or gang up 3 or 4 modules. It is a cost-effective way to get your message across using a large banner area for maximum attention. It's perfect for events and bigger campaigns where everything from price, to the time it takes to get the message up, is important.

The system design is discretely simple and you can put it up in less than a minute. The image is protected during transportation and storage, which makes Roll Up an ideal event system for repeated use in different environments. Roll Up is available in a wide range of widths and heights and is reasonably priced.

JVH also stocks the Pop-up Display Film with grayback designed specifically for these roll up display systems. This film allows you to provide changeable graphics for the stand. Please contact JVH if you want more info on the Roll Up display system.

Fo2PIX Flames Out

The ArtMasterPro fine art software is no longer available because the UK-based company fo2PIX has gone out of business. ArtMasterPro was a great product and we are sad to see the company go.
